Vehicle Owned By Gilroy Man Burns; Load Of Barley Saved

Rolling down the steep grade on the Santa Clara Valley side of Mission Pass Monday morning, a large truck belongng to F. Agerzzini, of Gilroy, burst into flames. Turned into the bank by the driver, who jumped clear, the big vehicle was consumed by the flames. The load, consisting of barley, was saved.

Acording to reports. the truck had difficulty in ascending the grade from the Sunol side.

Large trucks, heavily loaded, are this week inconvenienced by the closing of the Niles Canyon road while the Brightside bridge is being raised. The Mission Pass hill makes the going much tougher for the heavy machines.

NEW FORD NINE TRIMS HAYWARD N.S.G.W. SIX TO FIVE

Back in harness with a revamped lineup, the Hodgkins Fords ball team, now of Newark, Sunday beat the Hayward Native Sons by a score of 6 to 5 at the Newark diamond.

With vacancies filled by a number of former J & F players, the Fords present a formidable front to league teams this winter. In Sunday's game the hitting of Ornellas, Robinson and MacKenzie, all of the Fords, was the feature of the day. A perfect squeeze play in the ninth helped by Babe Silva was responsible for the winning run.

Next week the Fords travel to Milpitas to take on the tough Milpitas nine.

Sunnyvale Chamber Hosts at Macon Homecoming Tuesday Afternoon

Invited to be present at a huge luncheon at the Sunnyvale Civic Center to welcome the Macon to its home dock, several members of the Niles civic group Tuesday were guests of the Sunnyvale Chamber of Commerce.

Those who attended were F. V. Jones, A. J. Petsche, George Bonde and E. A. Ellsworth.

Given as a celebration of the Macon's arrival, the meet was attended by representatives of all civic groups in the San Francisco Bay region.

Meeting Monday, the Niles chamber first heard President F. V. Jones tell of a meeting last Tuesday in San Francisco of the Bridge Founding Celebration committee. Jones said that the aim of the meet seemed to be primarily to stir interest in the possibility of an exposition of huge proportions to celebrate the opening of the Golden Gate and San Francisco Bay spans. According to Jones, speakers at the meet ventured the opinion that an occasion as auspicious as the opening of two of the world's largest bridges called for a celebration as great, if not greater than the Chicago Century of Progress. In the event that such a venture comes to reality, funds will be raised from San Francisco, and all of central California, as far south as the Monterey penninsula.

E. Dixon Bristow spoke to the chamber of the school children's pet parade scheduled for next week, and received the hearty acclaim of the civic body. It was voted to furnish a substantial sum for the purchase of appropriate prizes for the winners in the contest, the sum to be handed over to the Parent-Teachers Association, which group will purchase the awards. Bill Helm, energetic worker and enthusiast, added to the chamber's offering with passes to his theater as further inducement to the children. Bistow told of Helm's unpublicsed work in connection with study honors at the grammar school. Helm, Bristow said, offered passes to the theater to those students in the upper grades who presented the best scholastic records for the term.

The names of those who will serve on the Niles Canyon Road Committee, for the purpose of attracting attention to the need of a new road, were revealed Monday. They are: R. Blacow, chairman; George Bonde, Lester Duffy and Supervisor Ralph Richmond.

Niles, Mission Firemen Unable To Quench Furious Blaze

Flames swept across the home of Nels Benson, in Irvington, early Tuesday afternoon, destroying chicken runs, sheds, tankhouse and house, wreaking damage estimated at several thousands of dollars.

Starting in one of the chicken houses, where Benson was working, the blaze quickly spread to adjoining buildings. By the time fire engines arrived from Niles and Mission San Jose, the conflagration was completely out of control. The town of Irvington as no fire department.

With the assistance of neighbors, Benson saved nearly all of the household goods, but was unable to drive his car from the garage. It was destroyed. To add to the loss, more than 200 hens were burned to death, it is said. It is reported that the hens were forgotten in the confusion until it was too late. One hundred and fifty dollars worth of feed, just purchased, was consumed by the flames.

Summoned to the scene too late to be of any use in saving the Benson home, the Niles and Mission firemen concentrated on keeping flying embers from igniting the Reid Brothers factory and adjacent houses.

It is said that Irvington has for several years discussed the need for adequate fire-fighting equipment, but due to various local factors, has taken no action in the matter.

FIREMEN HAVE BIG EVENING LAST FRIDAY

Members of the Niles Firemen's Club last Friday night filled the clubroom with hilarity at a get-together and dinner in celebration of the great success of their dance, held recently. F. V. Jones, ardent community worker, was a guest. He delivered an address to the men, emphasizing their value and service to the town. Jack Williamson electrified the assemblage with slight of hand tricks, members of the department being completely baffled.

The evening was concluded by a kangaroo court, at which Arnold Bellini discovered the error of his ways. Bellini was not the only victim, however, several others being arraigned before the mock magistrates.

Ben Murphy, in gratitude for the saving of his store some time ago by the department, furnished the food for the dinner. He also supplied quantities of beer, much to the firemen's satisfaction.

At the conclusion of the festivities, the firemen, eager to keep in trim, ran the fire engines out and held a realistic practice. The trees along First street received a drenching, much to the disgust of birds and other fauna whose rest was distrubed.

WORK BEGINS TO RAISE BRIDGE AT BRIGHTSIDE PARK

Traffic Detoured By Way Of Mission Pass All This Week

Traffic through Niles Canyon has been stopped this week and rerouted over the Mission Pass, while state crews are tearing out and raising the temporary bridge at Brightside.

Necessity for raising the bridge was felt last winter when high waters threatened to wash the structure away. It will be strengthened by the work now in progress.

In order to make the delay as short as possible, the state is working two shifts, in the hope of concluding the job by the end of this week. One crew comes on at 8:00 a. m. and works until 4:00 p. m. The second crew works until midnight.

The major part of the work is being done on the approaches to the bridge. These must be built up several feet to level off with the new bridge.

Many Niles business men, although they are glad to see work being accomplished in the canyon, feel that temporary repairs, such as are being done at the present time, will only delay the ultimate rebuilding of the entire canyon road. It has been said that Niles, and all of the towns of Southern Alameda conty, should make an effort to secure a portion of the state appropriations for roads for the repair and resurfacing of the Niles Canyon road. As one of the arteries over into the San Joaquin Valley, Niles Canyon should be one of the best roads in this part of the state.

MERCHANTS WALLOP HILL BILLIES BY 17 TO 12 SCORE SUNDAY

Pulling out from an 8 to 8 tie score in the seventh inning, the Niles Merchants baseball team, tied the first scalp of victory in league play to its belt Sunday when an eighth inning rally scored nine runs to wallop the Newark Hill Billies 17 to 12.

Realizing that Niles has a team at last, spectators flocked to the Niles Grammar school grounds to see the game. When Bill Helm passed the hat, a tidy sum was forthcoming.

If the Niles boys are handicapped by lack of practice, as some people say, they did not show it Sunday. Play was sharp and clean and hitting was hard and often.

Bally Pine connected for the best hit of the day when he found one of Soito's offerings for a homer in the seventh. That started the parade, and there was no catching the Niles boys after that, even after darkness settled.

According to Clarence Pine, practice for the Niles nine will be held hereafter on Saturday afternoons and on Sunday mornings.

Finding the lack of benches a serious handicap, the team last week gathered at Ray Peterson's store and made some up out of lumber presented by E. Waterson.

Finding the school diamond just a little too small for a fast clug the players are discussing the possibility of a new one. Willing to do the work themselves, with a little backing the team members are confident that before the spring schedule arrives they will have a suitable field.

Next Sunday the Hayward Eagles will come to Niles to have their wings singed. The game will start promptly at 2:30 p. m. and the action will be swift.

Dr. J. H. Durham, of Irvington, who left recently for the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago, writes that although there may be room for criticism, the fair achieves its aim, in that it depicts in a realistic way the progress made by man in the last 100 years.

Durham says that it shows in a simple and practical way the vast advances made in education, invention and science.

Dr. Durham stated that he will be in Chicago for some time, and plans to see the fair thoroughly.

A university man, Dr. Durham is being entertained at various university clubs in and about Chicago.

Clean, Mended Garments Accepted At School Tuesday Mornings

Members of the Niles Parent Teachers' Association will have their hands full next Friday morning when all manner of pets are given in to their charge at the conclusion of the unique pet parade, to be held in Niles at 9:00 that morning. Besides sponsoring the event and working toward the arrangement of it, the mothers of the children will find it incumbent upon them to return the pets to their homes.

Meeting early this week, the members of the Parent-Teachers' Association elected Mrs. Roland Bendel and Mrs. Frank Silva to the committee for the selection and purchase of appropriate prizes for the children. According to Mrs. Bendel the task is simplified by the substantial sum presented for the purchase of prizes by the Niles Chamber of Commerce and individuals in the town. The members of the association and the teachers who are working for the parade extend their thanks to the civic group.

Not only the children will display their pets, according to members of the Parent-Teachers' Association, who promise something on their own. What it may be is still a mystery, but we'll all know Friday morning, October 27.

At a meeting last week, the parent-teachers discussed plans for a drive to secure clothing for needy children in the school. The organization asks that clean, mended and wearable garments be brought in.

In order to simplify the gathering of clothing, Mrs. B. B. Maciel will be stationed at the Niles Grammar school next Tuesday morning from 8:45 to 9:30 to receive articles brought in, and thereafter every two weeks on the same day. Garments received will be turned over to Miss Gertrude Keller, teacher, for distribution to the needy children. Miss Keller, as chairman of welfare in the school, will select those youngsters who are in need of warm clothes for the winter.

The parent-teachers' drive for garments to clothe unfortunate children is one of the most worthy. Response from the community will be hearty, it is felt.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS BIG GAME DANCE NOVEMBER 25

Local interest in the football classic, between California and Stanford, will be brought to a fitting climax at the Second Annual Big Game Dance, to be given by the Betsy Ross Parlor No. 238, at the Garden of Allah, Niles, on Saturday night, November 25.

Music for the dance will be furnished by the Sunny Californians, and all the latest hits will be played, and requests for special selections will be honored.

California and Stanford enthusiasts will vent their joys or otherwise, over results of the Big Game, at the Native Daughters' Second Annual Big Game Dance, November 25, at the Garden of Allah.

Procession Up First Street —Prizes Will Be Awarded

Drawn from their fireside and back yard comfort, dogs, cats and all kinds of domestic animals, pets of Niles school children, will find themselves wheeled in perambulators and carried in arms in the Niles Grammar School Pet Parade to be held on next Friday morning, October 27, at 9:00, when dozens of kiddies will troop before the judges.

Never before has such an event been held in the town of Niles, and the children are eagerly grooming their pets.

The idea of the parade was conceived by E. Dixon Bristow, grammar school principal, some time ago. He has been working on plans with the help of the school teachers. The proposed parade was met with enthusiastic acclaim when presented before the Niles Parent-Teachers' Association and the latter organization will take an active part in making arrangements for prizes.

Bristow states that the parade is designed to follow the program laid down by the Latham Foundation for educating children in the kind treatment of animals.

There will be three divisions in the line of march; one for the very small tots, then the intermediate grades and last the higher classes. Upper grade students will act as marshals. All children are eligible to enter their pets.

Forming at the school at 9:00 a. m. Wednesday morning, the parade will progress down Second street to J. It will turn north on First street from J, and proceed the length of the town to G street.

The morning hour was chosen for the event, according to Bristow, to facilitate the return of the animals to their homes. Parents who bring their children to school will wait until the parade is concluded and take the pets home again.

Prizes will be awarded for the most unique and clever arrangements in the procesison, the judges to be chosen from among members of the Parent-Teachers Association and from the Chamber of Commerce. Among those who have offered to give prizes for the winners are: the Parent-Teachers Association, the Niles Chamber of Commerce and the Niles theater.

Details of the parade and the final arrangements are being worked out by Bristow and the grammar school teachers.

It is certain that the pet parade will be one of the high spots in the year for the children, and the turnout of the town will add much to the success of it. Let's give the kids and their pets a big hand!

Bride-To-Be Feted At Big Newark Gathering

More than two hundred people gathered at Silva's hall in Newark Saturday night for a miscellaneous shower tendered Miss Josephine Pashote by her sister, Miss Clara Pashote, of Centerville. Dancing and refreshments were enjoyed by those present. Music was furnished by Tony Cogine's Joy Boys. The bride-elect received many beautiful gifts.

Miss Pashote will become the bride of John Vierra, of Newark, on November 12. The couple plans to make their home in Newark, where Vierra is employed.

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

Learned of three attempts to work the old badger game on the streets of New York. As in each instance, the method used was the same, a Park avenue incident may be cited. The manufacturer of an internationally known children's remedy, accompanied by another manufacturer, was being driven up that avenue. A traffic light stopped the car and a well-dressed, attractive woman opened the door and got in. The two manufacturers looked at her in surprise. "Don't you remember me?" she asked. "It was down in Miami—well, I've won another swimming championship since I've seen you." It happened that neither occupant of the car had been in Miami for quite some time and so they told the lady. It was her turn to look surprised. "I must have made a mistake," she said, apparently confused greatly. "I'm sorry. But you're going my way, may I ride along a few blocks with you? I'm upset—really I am."

As the car continued to roll uptown she recovered her composure and was inclined to treat the whole matter as a joke. Finally she extended an invitation to visit her apartment and have a drink. Her technique was excellent but her invitation was refused. At the next traffic stop she got out and took up her station on the corner. In another instance, the car owner, recognizing the racket at once, ordered his chauffeur to stop the car and assist the woman out. But she didn't wait for assistance.

Henry E. Tudor, who was formerly manager of the late Frank Bostock's animal show, told me of an incident in an amusement park zoo, of which he was the manager, in Glasgow, Scotland. Among the animals was a gentle Indian elephant known as Paul. One Saturday afternoon, Tudor received a hurry call and found Paul in a wild rage. The big animal was pacified only with the greatest difficulty. Investigation disclosed the fact that a visitor had fed him a bun in which there was a large needle. Two of the keepers had seen a man who had acted suspiciously and Tudor ordered them to keep watch. But nothing happened during the rest of the season.

Early the next summer, just after the zoo had reopened, Tudor received another hurry call. Paul had knocked down a man with his trunk and only with the greatest difficulty had been restrained from killing him. Tudor sent the two keepers secretly to the hospital, and they positively identified the injured man as the man who had given the elephant the needle bun. Which, Tudor holds, is proof that "the elephant never forgets."

Incidentally, the victim of Paul's revenge brought suit for damages. Tudor sprung his two surprise witnesses, the victim's carefully rehearsed testimony blew up, and the judge, instead of awarding damages, expressed regret that it wasn't in his power to send him to jail for five years. The affair received wide publicity—and during that season, more than a million Scots paid admission to the zoo.

Reports from various sources indicate that the bicycle is coming back. Sporting goods stores and department stores report increased sales. So do those who sell clothing and shoes that go with bicycling. Many wheels—that's what we used to call them anyway—are bought by residents of Long Island, Westchester and other suburbs. A New York newspaper reports that bicycles are replacing second cars. Instead of sending a servant for the mail, laundry or on errands in a small car, heads of country estates are urging handymen to learn to pedal.

Records Show Puritans Had Their Bootleggers

Plymouth, Mass.—The Puritans had their bootleggers.

Yellowed court records on file in this ancient town so rich in Pilgrim history show that on September 14, 1638, Capt. Myles Standish arrested one Stephen Hopkins, charged with selling wine, beer, and spirituous liquors at excessive prices.

Cork Still in Limelight

Despite the fact that metal caps and glass and rubber plugs have elbowed cork from the dominant position it once held as the king of bottle stoppers, it requires more than 200,000 tons of cork annually to supply the world's demands.

The Word Cantaloupe

The word cantaloupe is often loosely used, but should really be applied only to a particular variety of ribbed muskmelon which was first grown in Europe at the castle of Cantalupo, in Italy.

Which Came First, Hen or Egg—Solved

Madrid.—Which came first, the hen or the egg? A Spanish eugenics expert, Dr. Roberto Novoa Santos, claims to have found a solution to this time-worn problem. Neither the hen nor the egg, but the rooster.

That is what Dr. Novoa Santos told an audience at the University of Madrid. "God made the male first and then the female," he said. The address was part of the first of a series of conferences on eugenics resumed after having been ordered discontinued during the dictatorship of Primo de Rivera.

Wedding Anniversaries

The following are the most generally accepted wedding anniversaries: First, cotton; second, paper; third, leather; fourth, fruit and flower; fifth, wooden; sixth, candy; seventh, woolen; eighth, rubber; ninth, willow; tenth, tin; eleventh, steel; twelfth, silk and linen; thirteenth, lace; fourteenth, ivory; fifteenth, crystal; twentieth, china; twenty-fifth, silver; thirtieth, pearl; thirty-fifth, coral (or sapphire); fortieth, ruby (or emerald); fiftieth, golden; seventy-fifth, diamond.

Color of Sea Water

The deep blue of the oceans contrasted with green water near shore appears to be due to the selective absorption of certain parts of the sun's rays by these organisms. Clear sea water looks blue from the surface because some of the nonabsorbed rays of this color are reflected. If planktons are present some of the red and yellow rays are also reflected. A mixture of the blue and yellow gives the appearance of green.

The "Buckeye" State

Ohio, the Buckeye state, derived its sobriquet, not from the buckeye trees that abound there, as is generally believed, but from the campaign of 1840 when Gen. William H. Harrison was a candidate for President. In that campaign buckeye cabins and walking sticks became emblems of the popular candidate. It was this that forever set Ohioans apart as "Buckeyes."

"Fireweed"

Because the spiked willow herb thrives where forest fires have devastated the landscape, it has well earned the name of "fireweed." In June it begins to blossom, and its flowers open in slow succesion all during the summer, leaving behind them long seed vessels. The flower is magenta-pink in color, and the leaves resemble those of willow trees.

Clever Fish Catcher

The cleverest wild creature to capture fish is undoubtedly the otter. In the water, this mammal is the master of almost anything that swims. When a fox gets among a number of chickens he will run amok and kill every one. The otter will sometimes behave in the same way when it enters a pool well stocked with fish.

"Nature's Carnival"

Yellowstone park has been termed "nature's carnival." Geysers spouting steam and tinted mud. Vividly colored pools seething and boiling. Hot springs, bubbling. Gorgeous rock terraces dazzling in the sunlight. Falls plunging thunderously down canyon walls.

Chefs and Tomatoes

TOMATOES could get along nicely without chefs—but picture the plight of a chef without tomatoes. Relegated to forgotten realms would be the ragouts, the creoles, the Spanish this and the Italian that—not even to dwell on the dilemmas of salads and sauces.

For, although ripe luscious tomatoes, fresh from the garden, or ripe luscious tomatoes fresh from the can are delicious, whether or not a chef ever waves his magic spoon over them, the chef that is robbed of his staple ingredient, tomatoes, would find life had, indeed, lost its flavor.

And Housewives, Too!

The housewife, too, knowing the healthful qualities of the tomato, the colorful aspect, and the popularity of this fruit-vegetable, uses it most plentifully to cheer up menus of all seasons. And here is one more good tomato dish—especially good for these early spring months:

Tomato and Cauliflower Puree: Cook one medium cauliflower until tender, and press through a sieve. Press contents of one No. 2 can of tomatoes through a sieve and add to the cauliflower with contents of one can of consommé and one cup water. Bring to boiling. Sauté one tablespoon minced onion in butter for a few minutes, add three tablespoons flour; stir smooth, thin with a little of the hot soup, then add to the soup, season with salt and pepper, and cook until creamy.

Murder is the unlawful killing of a human being with malice aforethought; manslaughter is the unlawful killing of a human being without malice, either expressed or implied.

The word "backbite," which is of old origin, means to censure spitefully an absent person; to talk slanderously of a person behind his back. The word was a commonplace in Shakespeare's time.

Because the cactus has to live on an absolute minimum of moisture, the juice of this plant is markedly potent in its ability to handle mineral in solution. If when brought back the work was satisfactory, the sack was filled again with materials; if not, it was laid empty on the counter. This indicated that the person would no longer be employed by the firm.

If you bought GAS HEAT as you buy GROCERIES

YOU LOOK for the grocer's bargains. That's wise buying. It saves you money, or permits you to set a better table within your budget.

In the old days of manufactured gas, you bought the small can containing 550 units of heat. Now for the same price you get the large can, containing 1150 units of heat.

That's more than twice as much heat, twice as much for your money. You'd appreciate that bargain if you took your gas home in a market basket. But gas is not sold that way. It is delivered to you in your home, at the very spot you want it, silently, efficiently, with no bother to you. And you don't pay for it until after you have used it.

Every home today can afford the comfort, convenience and cleanliness of the gas range; of automatic hot water; of house heating—all made possible by this bargain offering of Natural Gas, the naturally better fuel.

CORNHUSKERS BEAT HILLSIDE ELEVEN FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Last Half Rally Wins First League Game For Centerville

Stopped for the first half by a flashy shift, the Cornhuskers collected themselves, and walloped the Hillside varsity, 18 to 0 at Berkeley last Friday. This was the first league game for the Centerville boys this season and they took it in high. If they maintain the brand of ball shown in the Santa Clara and Hillside games, the championship should come to Centerville.

In the backfield, Frank Medieros Muniz and Raso played fast ball. Ed. Rose was poison for the Hillsiders until he twisted his knee in the second quarter. He will be in shape again soon.

In the first half the Centerville boys were on the defense most of the time, trying to solve a quick shift that gained the Hillside eleven 114 yards. In the second half, the Huskers mastered the problem and proceeded to wipe up the field. Raso scored around end, and then again on a pass. Medieros plowed over for the final tally. All conversions went wide.

According to Coach Regli, the line played heads up ball in the second half, the first two periods being spent in watching the secondary stop the Hillside backs.

Statistics:

	W	H
Yds. from scrimmage	109	166
Passes Attempted	8	8
Passes Completed	3	2
First Downs	11	10

Husker Starting Lineup:
Ends—Brown and Kato.
Tackles—Agna and Durham.
Guards—Hikedo and Kitania.
Center—Manuel.
Halfbacks—Brown and Ramos.
Fullbacks—F. Medieros.
Quarter—Raso.

Tomorrow the Huskers travel to Los Gatos to meet the strong Los Gatos high eleven. The offense has been polished this week, and a victory should be forthcoming.

The Pleasanton, Livermore and Emerville games follow in the next three weeks. The first two mentioned to be played at Centerville.

Firemen from all districts in Alameda county took the lid off and heartily enjoyed themselves at the quarterly meeting of the Alameda County Firemen's Association, held at the Hotel Gregory in Centerville last Thursday night. More then ninety chiefs and men were in attendance, acording to Fred Rogers, Centerville chief.

Chief Steinmetz, of Alameda, served as toastmaster ,and introduced Chief Lutkey, of Oakland, who spoke on the progress made in fire fighting methods in the last decade. Battalion Chief Terry, of Oakland, told the asseemblage of unique fire hazards and mapped various means of coping with unusual blazes.

FUTURE FARMERS IN PROFIT SHARE ON PROJECTS

Alameda county high school students who worked out "Future Farmer" agricultural projects in 1932-33 fiscal year are sharing 122,000 profits from those projects, the annual report of Julian A. McPhee, chief of state Bureau of Agricultural Education, states.

More than 6,000 students in the state owned and managed home enterprises in connection with their class work valued at $500,000 the report says.

Poultry products led in total value, with about 100,000 birds owned by "Future Farmers." Swine projects yere worth $90,000 and cattle projects were valued at $30,000.

Cost figures show, according to McPhee, that the resident projects returned almost as mueh in cash as the total federal and state cost of instruction.

PHEASANT SEASON TO OPEN NOVEMBER 15, SAYS ROGERS

Pheasant season, opened for the first time, will begin on Novemger 15, to continue for five days according to Warden Fred Rogers, of Centerville. The limit of birds will be two males per day for the duration of the season, making a total of ten all one hunter may bag. Rogers says that great care should be taken in shooting to be sure that the bird flushed is not a female, since the penalty for killing them is severe.

In speaking of quail season, to be opened this year on November 15, Rogers said that hunting in the higher regions should be good, the birds having multiplied last year. Rogers deplored the opening of the season early, saying that the additional fifteen days shooting will probably thin out the adult birds to a great degree. The season will continue open until December 30.

The Niles chamber, after considerable discussion decided to build a scoreboard for the team as soon as it is possible. Ray Peterson, team manager, lauded his boys in their first victory, and promises many more. Lost Hunter Located After Three-day Search

Norman Rose, active Niles hunter, and his brother, Fred Rose, of San Francisco, this week left off hunting deer for a few days to seek a member of their hunting party who became lost.

The Rose brothers, accompanied by E. Bono, of San Francisco, left last Friday on a trip to Longbarn, north of Sacramento. The party started on their hunt the next morning. Bono, separated from the others became confused and took the wrong trail. His failure to return alarmed the rest, and a search was started for him. After a three-day hunt, Bono was found, much thinner, but in high spirits. The remainder of the hunt was canceled and the party returned to Niles Tuesday without deer, but with Bono.

MEDICAL ADVICE

If you want to

. . . keep the bowel action regular and comfortable
. . . make constipated spells as rare as colds
. . . avoid danger of bowel strain
—use a liquid laxative

Can constipation be overcome? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" declare thousands who have followed their advice and know.

You are not apt to cure your constipation with salts, pills and tablets, or any habit-forming cathartic. But you can overcome this condition just by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the average person's bowels just as regular as clockwork in a few weeks' time.

Why Hospitals use a liquid laxative

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can be controlled. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Will not irritate kidneys.

The right liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement, with no discomfort at the time, or afterward.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it!

In buying any laxative, read the label. If it contains a doubtful drug, don't take it. If you don't know what is in it, don't chance it. The contents of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is stated plainly on the label; fresh herbs, pure pepsin, active senna.

Its very taste tells you syrup pepsin is wholesome. A delightful taste, and delightful action. Safe for expectant mothers, and children. Drugstores have it, ready for use, in big bottles.

AMADOR DONS ARE DEFEATED BY THE TRACY BULLDOGS

For the first time in nine years the Tracy Bulldogs were successful in defeating the Amador Dons in a game played at the Tracy field recently. The score was 18 to 0.

Amador chose to kickoff, and held Tracy for three downs forcing them to kick on the fourth down. The Dons were then in a position to score but were held for downs kicking on the fourth. Both teams battled evenly with Tracy having a slight advantage mainly due to more weight.

However, it was not until Tracy took to an air attack that the Bulldogs were able to get deep in the Don territory. Toward the end of the first quarter a long pass put Tracy on the five yard line. The over anxious Dons threw Tracy for a loss but received a penalty for off side putting the ball on the two and a half yard line. It took three plays for Tracy to barely get the ball over the chalk line. Conversion failed and the Dons chose to receive.

The Dons immediately marched down the field but the quarter ended with the Dons on Tracy's four yard line.

In the early part of the second quarter the Dons were in a position to score and unfortunately some of the Don substitutes failed to report properly with the result that Amador received a fifteen yard penlity thus losing their opportunity to score.

The remaining two quarters found both teams battling on even terms with the ball on midfield. With five minutes left to play in the final quarter the Dons tried an aerial attack. A long Don pass was intercepted by a Tracy man and resulted in a second touchdown for the Bulldogs.

With but three minutes left to play the Dons continued with their air attack and a third Don pass was intercepted which resulted in a third touchdown for the Tracy aggregation. Tracy being on the long end of the score was in a position to defend this form of attack which was the only chance the Dons had to score in the last few minutes of play.

Amador Dons Defeat Hayward Goofs By a 6 to 0 Score Monday

The Amador Dons chalked their first victory in their football schedule when they defeated the Hayward Goofs in a game played at the Amador field last Monday afternoon by a score of six to nothing.

At no time during the game was a strictly Don varsity in the field as substitutions were being freely made in order to have all the team play against the shift attack that was used by the Hayward boys.

Hayward received the ball on the kickoff and the Dons failed to click with the Hayward shift so that it looked like there would be a sure touchdown for Hayward in the very start of the game. On the twenty yard line Hayward fumbled the ball and the Dons recovered it. The Dons then started a march down the field. Both teams showed more power while on offense although defense was less finished. Hayward's shift bothered the Dons while the Don's spinner and deception play kept the Hayward boys guessing. Dutra bucked the ball from the middle of the field to the seven yard line where Ernie Bernard bucked through the line for the only touchdown of the day. The drop kick by Cintrone failed to convert.

The Dons pulled their usual stunt of resting after the first touchdown with the result that neither team did much threatening throughout the last two quarters.

The final quarter with Hayward playing from behind the Farmers were bound for a score and attempted an aerial attack which was checked by the Dons. The game ended without Hayward scoring any points and the Dons with one touchdown to their credit.

FORESTS INFLUENCE OUR MARKET BASKET

Wood Is Indispensable in "Metal Civilization."

Washington. — Articles ranging from telephone poles to clothespins are among the millions of objects made of wood which the present "metal civilization" finds indispensable. Even before the institution of the President's forestry camps, lumbering, measured by the number of persons engaged in it, was one of the largest industries in the United States, according to a bulletin of the National Geographic society.

"Lumbering and forestry, as they are at present practiced, vary widely in their aims although the cutting of wood is a factor in both," says the bulletin. "Lumbering is the term used for the cutting of timber for an immediate gain, while forestry carries the conception of long-time planning for continuous income. If trees are stripped carelessly from land, it is frequently left open to alternate floods and droughts. Much of it becomes worthless for agriculture or recreation and can support little animal life.

Many National Forests.

"When white men came to America, it is estimated that there were 1,064,528 square miles of forest between the Atlantic ocean and the prairies. In what is now the West of the United States there were 220,062 square miles. This million and a quarter square miles of forests had been reduced to 733,554 square miles in 1928. Over half of this remainder had been selectively cut over, leaving the smaller trees for future growth. Of the original forests 126,875 square miles were cut so ruthlessly that the land is now practically useless.

"To discourage further devastation of the country by thoughtless lumbering methods, the government organized the forest service. The areas under the supervision of this service are the tree-covered public lands in the West which were not taken up by homesteaders, and forests purchased from private owners in the East. At present there are national forests in 31 states. Plans have been made for camps for the unemployed in the national forests of all these states. In states having no national forests, similar camps will be established in state forests or on private land.

"During the past quarter century, the government has emphasized the value of forests for the whole country. For the farmer—and the 1930 census showed over 50 per cent of the population living in rural areas—there are two great problems that are affected by forestry practice. One is erosion or the washing away of the valuable top soil; the other is the distribution of rain water. If there are no trees or cover crops to slow up the rain water as it runs down the slopes, erosion is unavoidable. Thus water which should seep down to the valleys through a period of weeks, rushes in torrents down the stream beds, causing floods in the valleys followed by long periods of drought.

"Aside from the protection of farm lands and conservation of moisture, national forests bring the government a direct revenue in various ways. Full grown timber and cord wood are sold; grazing lands are rented; water power concessions are leased; drinking water is furnished large cities; and irrigating systems are provided. These projects have proved so remunerative that even with the expense of seeding new sections, and pruning, thinning, and clearing underbrush in the older growths, many of the national forests have been put on a self-supporting basis.

Fire Prevention.

"Perhaps the largest single expenditure for forestry is for fire prevention. The toll of life is not ordinarily great, deaths from forest fires rarely running over 50 persons a year; but the damage to forests and the dependent water districts has been found to amount to millions of dollars. To avoid this loss lookouts are placed on high points of national forests and constant watch is kept for the telltale smoke. Forest rangers now frequently are successful in beating out fires before they have passed the possibility of control. Public education has done much to limit the horror and waste of these fires; but one unavoidable cause, lightning, accounts for more than 25 per cent of the fires.

"The forest service has been quick to see the recreational possibilities of the forests, and roads have been built, hiking clubs encouraged, lake shores cleared, trails broken, and camping grounds established, so that tourists, climbing enthusiasts, fishermen, and hunters may have an opportunity to indulge in their favorite avocations.

"The forest service has taken with it roads, telephones, radio, and other instruments of civilization and has brought prospering occupations to formerly isolated spots, many of them of striking scenic beauty. It has given a new vision to many lumbermen, persuading them that ultimate good for the country may be achieved and great harm averted by substituting the ideal of forestry for that of lumbering."

Mail Theft by Bluebird Foiled by Rural Carrier

McRae, Ga.—R. E. Flanagan, rural mail carrier, reports a daylight robbery of a rural mail box by a bluebird. He says when he drove up a bluebird sitting on the mail box flew away. Flanagan placed a letter in the box and drove on. As he looked back he saw the bird flying away with the letter.

The carrier stopped his car, got out and chased the bird until it dropped the letter, which he replaced in the box and weighted down to save it from another visit from the winged robber.

Filmland's Scissors Man

One of the most important things in the making of a film is—a pair of scissors! When making a film each scene is photographed three or four times, and from two or three angles. The film editor (the cutter) has to sort the scenes out. He has to use the best ones, make "close-ups" balance with "long shots," and make the story run smoothly. The physical part of his job consists of wielding his scissors with skill, and keeping the scenes short. He sees the film through a machine usually known as a moviola. This apparatus projects the film on to a small white background under a magnifying glass—the smallest screen in the world. Where the moviola is not available, the film is put on a spool, and wound on to another spool. As it is wound from spool to spool, the cutter studies it under a magnifying glass and stops it when he thinks it needs cutting.

Sunspots and Rainfall

A Russian scientist finds a relationship between the sun-spot numbers and rainfall. The more disturbed the face of the sun, the more rain in an area covering roughly the Indian ocean, the east coast of Africa, India, the East Indies, and most of Australia; in another area covering the northern half of South America; and in still another covering the extreme northern tip of Europe and Asia and the extreme north Atlantic. Simultaneously there was less rainfall over most of Europe and central Asia, eastern North America and southern South America.

Rose of Jericho

This annual, found in northern Africa, Syria and Arabia, acts strangely when the pods begin to ripen at the approach of dry weather. The branches drop their leaves and curl inward, appearing like dead twigs. When completely ripe it looks like a ball of wicker work on a short stem. The roots die, and the apparently dead ball is carried to a lake or other water, or becomes wedged somewhere till a rain comes. Then the dried ball unbends, the branches resume their proper place, and the pods open and discharge their seeds miles from the place of original growth.

Federal Income Tax Has Been in Force Since 1913

The federal income tax has been in force since 1913, the year that the Sixteenth Amendment to the Constitution, authorizing the income tax, was ratified. In January, 1894, an income tax bill had been passed by congress, but it was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court in May, 1895. The demand for a graduated income tax, according to a newspaper writer, came especially from the farmers of the West and South, whose argument was expressed in the platform of one of the third parties: "A graduated income tax is the most equitable system of taxation, placing the burden of government upon those who can best afford to pay, instead of laying it upon the farmers and producers and exempting millionaire bondholders and corporations." During the Civil war and down to 1872 there was a federal income tax, levied as a war tax. The minimum tax rate which was imposed under the various tax laws has been 1 per cent in 1913; 2 per cent in 1916; 4 per cent in 1917; 6 per cent in 1918; 4 per cent from 1919 to 1923; 2 per cent in 1924; 1½ per cent in 1928; 4 per cent in 1932.

Alchemists Aided Science

Alchemy, the forerunner of the modern science of chemistry, was responsible for many of the basic facts known to chemists of the present. The alchemists labored, however, in a forlorn cause, for they sought to turn basic metals into gold and silver, but despite their best methods, they never succeeded. They employed a red preparation known as philosophers' stone which, they believed, would, if melted together with the baser metals, produce gold, while a white preparation was supposed to produce silver. This same magical substance was also given wide medical powers by the superstitious and was a sort of cure-all forerunner of some of our modern cure-alls. The work of the alchemists mystified the populace and they were often suspected of possessing the powers of a wizard. Most of the ruling houses of the early centuries had alchemists attached to the royal household.

Tinamous' Colorful Eggs

The tinamous, South American game bird belonging to one of the plainest colored bird families in existence, produce the most richly colored eggs of any birds. These are self-colored and when freshly laid show such tints as sea-green and plum-purple. In this connection ornithologists have noticed, however, that it is rather a general rule for plain colored birds to lay the brightest colored eggs and, vice versa, for birds of bright plumage to lay very ordinary looking eggs.

Woodin Pals With Newspaper Writers

By WILLIAM L. BRUCKART

Washington.—Despite the strain of bank holidays, finding ways to finance billions of dollars of public expenditures and touches of grippe, William H. Woodin continues to maintain his affability as secretary of the treasury. He has become much attached to the corps of newspaper correspondents who have to keep in touch with treasury affairs, and it may be added the writers have grown very fond of the secretary. They were not quite prepared, however, for the secretary to pay them a visit in the room assigned to the correspondents, as he did the other day, in order to hold his regular press conference.

During the bank holiday when the correspondents were on the job until two or three o'clock each morning, awaiting treasury action, Mr. Woodin strolled into their quarters for a chat. The hour was about two o'clock, but the secretary thought nothing of the time. He was concerned immediately with the wrecks of desks, chairs and typewriters that served the correspondents, and announced that better equipment was needed. He ordered it installed. So the press room now is fitted completely with new furniture for the first time in 20 years, and the secretary called around to see how it looked and hold his session there instead of his own spacious office.

"Carillon" is derived from the Latin "quadrillo," four, because these progressions were played formerly on four bells. In a Thirteenth century psalter there is an illustration showing King David playing on a row of four bells, though this is probably an ornamentation of the text, rather than the record of a fact. A leading present day English bellfounder says that to attain to the dignity of a carillon, a set of tower bells must comprise at least two chromatic octaves—25 bells. Another equally well known founder is of opinion that a set of 23 bells—two diatonic octaves with eight semi-tones—constitutes a carillon. Sets of a lesser number are, according to these expert rulings, chimes. It may be well to supplement the last statement by adding that sets of five, six, eight, ten and twelve bells specially fitted and hung for change ringing are "rings" of bells, for instance, a "ring" of eight bells.—Montreal Herald.

The First Kiss

Cato believed, according to Pliny, that husbands started kissing in order to determine whether their wives and daughters had been drinking wine. A British essayist, speaking of the kiss, said that "nature was its author and it began with the first courtship." While many scientists believe that kissing is the natural expression of physical love and kindred emotions, the fact remains that the kiss is unknown among millions of the inhabitants of the earth. The Eskimos, the natives of Madagascar, many negro tribes in Africa, the natives of Tierra del Fuego, as well as other races, do not kiss. Many of these people express similar emotions and salutations by what is popularly described as "rubbing noses." The custom of kissing on the lips apparently began among certain races in the early stages of civilization and developed very slowly.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Why did you buy this NEWSPAPER?

SUPPOSING that, beginning tomorrow, all the newspapers are discontinued. What a furore the public would make "News! News! We must have news or we will be no better off than the ancients." All right, suppose we give them news but cut out the advertisements.

Then you would discover that politics, the doings of society, notices of fires, accidents, deaths, scandals, sports, the activities of the police and criminals add little or nothing to the real comfort and happiness of this greatest age in the world's history.

Advertising is the NEWS of all the looms, of all the furnaces, of all the laboratories, of all the shops, of all the stores, of all the world, AND ALL WORKING FOR YOU.

Because of advertising, luxuries and necessities that once cost a king's ransom are yours at little prices. Advertising pits merchant against merchant, artisan against artisan, producer against producer, for your benefit, forcing out the best there is in everything and telling the world about it.

Read advertising. Keep abreast of today. Advertising furnishes you with facts and opportunities that otherwise you would never know.

FALL ACTIVITIES BEGIN FOR CAMP FIRE GIRLS

The Tinega group recently held an election of officers. the following girls being placed in the various offices: Eleanor Harrold, president; Pegy Munger, secretary; Evelyn Pond, treasurer; Ramona Mello, vice president; Betty Robinson, song leader and Barbara Kibby, scribe. Girls of the Tinega group concluded camp craft work at their last meeting.

Because there was not sufficient evidence to find Frank Judd guilty of driving while intoxicated, the case was dscharged by Judge Charles A. Gale at the Pleasanton justice court last Tuesday morning.

Miss Cecilia Orton, of San Francisco, who was the complaining witness did not produce enough evidence in her testimony to find Judd guilty.

Judd is said to have wrecked the car in which Miss Orton was riding in an accident near Dublin on September 24. The first testimony given by Miss Orton in making the complaint, she is said to have stated that Judd was intoxicated at the time of the accident and that he used profane language before her, but her testimony Tuesday was just the reverse.

Lawrence Dayton, of the district attorney's office, represented the people in the case. Judd did not have an attorney.

DIRIGIBLE SHUNS WARMER AIR OVER TOWNSHIP SUNDAY

Washington township received just a glimpse of what will be a familiar sight in the future, when the naval dirigible, Macon, was sighted low on the horizon Sunday afternoon as it nosed its way toward Sunnyvale, where it will be stationed from now on.

Enterprising township spectators climbed to various high places, binoculars in hand, to have a look at the big ship as it passed down San Francisco bay. Several people have commented on the fact that the Macon did not fly over the valley. This was explained later by authorities who said that preparatory to landing, the dirigible must be kept cool to contract the helium as much as possible so that none has to be valved off. The air over the water is much cooler than that nearer the hills.

AMAZING NEW TIRE WILL SAVE LIVES

No Extra Cost to Public. Come in and See the New Silvertown

THIS year thousands will be killed or injured by accidents due to blow-outs. Will you be one of them? Not if you use this new kind of tire... this tire that makes you 3 times safer from blow-outs at high speeds.

Today's high speeds—40, 50, 60 and 70—cause terrific heat INSIDE the tire. This heat causes rubber and fabric to separate. A blister forms... and grows bigger and bigger... until BANG! A blow-out! And you're headed for trouble or worse.

To protect you from blow-outs, every new Goodrich Safety Silvertown Tire has the amazing Life-Saver Golden Ply. This new invention resists heat... rubber and fabric don't separate. Thus blisters don't form inside the tire. The CAUSE of blow-outs is eliminated beforehand.

The best part of this good news is that you don't have to pay a single penny extra for this Golden Ply protection. Thanks to the Goodrich crusade to save lives, we can give you this new Safety Silvertown for the same price as any other standard tire.

Why take chances? That blister... that blow-out in the making... may be in your tires right now. Come in today.
